FIGHTING FOR LIFE

by S. JOSEPHINE BAKER

Introduction by HELEN EPSTEIN

Disease ran rampant in New York's densely populated Lower East Side in the 1890s, but by 1911 The New York Times hailed the city as the healthiest on earth. In this highly personal autobiography, public health crusader Dr. S. Josephine Baker explains how this transformation was achieved.

"Baker was the first director of a children's public health agency, and the first woman to get a doctorate in public health. She tangled repeatedly with Typhoid Mary. More important, her ideas saved thousands of lives and permanently changed the focus and mission of public health. Her just-reissued 1939 autobiography proves to be one of those magical books that reaches effortlessly through time, as engaging and as thought-provoking as if it were written now."—THE NEW YORK TIMES

A SURGEON IN THE VILLAGE

An American Doctor Teaches Brain Surgery in Africa

by TONY BARTELME

Dr. Dilan Ellegala arrives in Tanzania, shocked to find the entire country has just three brain surgeons for its population of 42 million. Dilan realizes that there are far too many neurosurgery patients for one person to save. He decides to teach Emmanuel Mayegga and, over six months, Mayegga learns how to remove tumors and treat hydrocephalus. More importantly, Dilan teaches Mayegga how to pass on his newfound skills. This is the incredible account of one man's push to "train-forward"—to change our approach to aid and medical training before more lives are needlessly lost.

"A lyrical, inspirational and altogether rewarding account of first- and third-world surgeons working together to perform neurosurgery miracles in the heart of Africa."

CROSSINGS

A Doctor-Soldier's Story

by JON KERSTETTER

Every juncture in Jon Kerstetter's life has been marked by a crossing from one world into another: from civilian to doctor to soldier; between healing and waging war; and between compassion and hatred of the enemy. When an injury led to a stroke that ended his careers as a doctor and a soldier, he faced the most difficult crossing of all, a recovery that proved as shattering as war itself.

"The author's emergence as a military doctor makes for interesting reading... but what is of greatest value in this narrative is Kerstetter's ongoing, twofold recovery from a stroke on one hand and PTSD on the other... The author's medical perspective on his own condition and critical therapeutic moments adds depth to an already solid story. An inspiring memoir."

GALILEO'S MIDDLE FINGER Heretics, Activists, and the Search for Justice in Science by ALICE DREGER

For two decades, historian Alice Dreger—as both a noted science historian and medical activist—has combined activist service to victims of unethical medical research with defense of scientists whose work has outraged identity politics activists. Dreger offers in Galileo's Middle Finger a vision of the importance of rigorous truth seeking in today's America, and the necessary intertwining of both truth and justice in our fragile democracy.

"Alice Dreger would win a prize for this year's most gripping novel, except for one thing: her stories are true, and this isn't a novel. Instead, it's an exciting account of complicated good guys and bad guys, and the pursuit of justice."

MARKETPLACE OF THE MARVELOUS

The Strange Origins of Modern Medicine

by ERIKA JANIK

An entertaining introduction to the quacks, snake-oil salesmen, and charlatans whose oftentimes genuine wish to heal helped shape and influence modern medicine.

“An engaging romp through more than a century of irregular medicine. . . . Erika Janik explores these medical byways with both skepticism and respect, showing how their often-derided practitioners were pioneers (at times unwittingly) in the exploration of placebo effects, psychotherapy, the importance of exercise, disease prevention, and patient engagement in their own care—elements that have been gradually absorbed into mainstream medical practice.”

It is also a daughter's tribute to the mother whose disease offered her a new opportunity to 'love unconditionally... and practice being comfortable with... [the] uncomfortable.'
